QUESTION 5

You need to design a solution that meets the refactoring requirements.

Which type of object should you include in the solution?

- A. An indexed view

- B. An aggregate function
- C. A distributed view
- D. A table-valued function

Correct Answer: D

From scenario: The results from the query must be able to be joined to other queries.

User-defined functions that return a table data type can be powerful alternatives to views. These functions are referred to as table-valued functions. A table-valued user-defined function can be used where table or view expressions are allowed in Transact-SQL queries. While views are limited to a single SELECT statement, user-defined functions can contain additional statements that allow more powerful logic than is possible in views.

A table-valued user-defined function can also replace stored procedures that return a single result set. The table returned by a user-defined function can be referenced in the FROM clause of a Transact-SQL statement, but stored procedures that return result sets cannot.
